

ZERO SWEEPS FIVE TOP AWARDS AT MOROCCO'S NATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL

Casablanca, February 14th, 2013

After having seduced Moroccan public and led box office for 7 last weeks, Nour-Eddine Lakhmari's feature ZERO, captured the jury's interest at 14th edition of Morocco's National Film Festival held from February 1 to 9 in Tangier.

The jury composed of seven internationally well-known professionals and personalities in film and art community and presided by French screenwriter, producer and director, Jacques Dorfmann, handed five awards to ZERO, including the most coveted award, the Festival's "Grand Prize".

ZERO won:

- National Film Festival's Grand Prize
- Best Actor Award for Younes Bouab
- Best Supporting Actor Award for the late Mohamed Majd
- Best Supporting Actress Award for Sonia Okacha
- Best Sound Award for Emmanuel Legall

ZERO keeps up the momentum, in its ninth week of release, and continues to attract large audience to discover an audacious movie that pushes the boundaries of creativity.
